About the Artist

Chris Stone (b. 1950) is one of Australia's most influential textile designers, known for his bold, expressive surface designs across bed linen and homewares. After relocating from Milan to Melbourne in 1984 to join Sheridan as Design Director, Chris played a pivotal role in expanding the brand from a domestic favourite to an international name featured in over 50 countries.

Based in Sydney since 1987, he pioneered colour forecasting reports that shaped furnishing trends across the industry. Alongside his commercial success, Chris has spent over 40 years mentoring textile students, generously sharing his expertise with the next generation of designers.

When local demand for hand-painted work declined, Chris returned to painting — creating vibrant Australian scenes filled with flowers, birds and native landscapes. Now part of the Australian Museum of Design collection, his works reflect a deep connection to place and a lifelong dedication to creative practice.

About the Australian Museum of Design

The Australian Museum of Design (AMoD) is a cultural initiative founded to preserve, honour and revitalise Australia's design legacy, and to share it with the world. At its heart is a growing archive of more than 10,500 hand-drawn surface designs created by Australian artists across the 20th century, many of which have never been seen publicly until now.

AMoD exists to make this rich history accessible for study and for everyday use. From wallpaper and textiles to digital licensing and design exhibitions, we bring historical designs into modern homes, commercial interiors and creative projects. Each work is carefully digitised and restored, ensuring the artist's original intent and craft are respected while enabling new forms of expression and appreciation.

Our purpose goes beyond preservation. We are building a bridge between generations, where the imagination, skill and stories of Australian artists are no longer confined to archives, but reintroduced as part of a living, design-led conversation. Through collaborations, education and commercial partnerships, AMoD supports both the cultural and economic value of Australian design, championing creators past and present.

Whether it's through curated wallpaper collections, designer features, or licensing support for brands and makers, AMoD is helping to define a new chapter in the story of Australian visual identity that honours the past while creating opportunities for the future.

Floxleigh

Wallpaper by Chris Stone

Floxleigh is a graceful ode to English floral tradition, capturing the painterly charm and botanical richness of a garden in full bloom. Designed by Chris Stone for the English Garden Collection, this wallpaper features sweeping peonies, delicate lilacs, and soft blue daisies, artfully entwined with trailing leaves and pale pink stems. Every petal and frond has been hand-rendered with attention to depth and colour, resulting in a design that feels both timeless and alive.

The blush-toned background brings warmth and subtlety, allowing the florals to bloom with layered softness. The scale has been carefully adjusted for residential spaces, lending a sense of natural flow without overpowering the room. Whether used on all four walls or as a statement feature, Floxleigh evokes quiet elegance and a lived-in romance.

Its palette – a blend of blush, sage, lavender, and sky blue – speaks to vintage textiles and heirloom gardens, reinterpreted for today's interiors. Ideal for heritage bedrooms, sitting rooms, or refined powder rooms, it brings a calm, uplifting presence wherever it's used.

Printed on premium paper-based or non-woven grounds, Floxleigh offers a versatile solution for decorators and designers seeking a classically English look with painterly soul. It's a celebration of craftsmanship, garden beauty, and the enduring appeal of floral storytelling.
