About Chris Stone

Chris Stone is one of Australia’s most influential textile designers. He led design at Sheridan for years, taking the brand to more than 50 countries. Today he paints vibrant scenes filled with flowers, birds and native landscapes.

His English Garden Collection brings that painterly eye to fabric: roses, carnations and wildflowers, drawn by hand and restored by the Australian Museum of Design. Each design is printed to order on 100% Belgian Linen and sold by the metre, so you can buy just what your project needs. You can order a small sample first to see the colour and the cloth in your own light.

- Order a sample to check colour and print on the cloth.

About the Australian Museum of Design

The Australian Museum of Design preserves Australia's design legacy and shares it with the world. Its growing archive holds more than 10,500 hand-drawn surface designs by Australian artists of the 20th century, many of them never seen publicly until now. Each work is carefully digitised and restored so the artist's original intent remains intact.
