About this design

Hand-drawn egrets perch among stylised blossoms and twisting branches in a soft sage green palette. The design balances movement with stillness.

Curated by Collette Dinnigan for the Plume Collection.

About Florence Broadhurst

Florence Broadhurst (1899–1977) is the original maximalist. Her designs celebrate scale, colour and rhythm with complete confidence, bringing an unmistakable theatricality to every interior they touch. She is confident, courageous, elegant, flamboyant and entirely original.

Born in Queensland, Florence first performs as a singer across Asia. She draws on all of that life experience to be her best in everything that follows. In 1959 she founds her wallpaper business at St Leonards, Sydney, where her hand-printed papers become known for large, bold patterns and vivid colour. Her work is exported to North America, England and Paris. By the 1970s, her designs number around 800.

Found in museums and galleries, her designs are loved by everyone from Australian Prime Ministers to Hollywood movie stars, yet they are just as at home in your living room. A Florence Broadhurst design can be as simple as a few cushions, a favourite armchair or a headboard, right through to curtains for a whole room.

The Australian Museum of Design makes her work easy to bring home. Her designs are printed to order as wallpaper for residential interiors. You can order a sample first to see the colour and scale on your own wall.

About the Australian Museum of Design

The Australian Museum of Design preserves Australia's design legacy and shares it with the world. Its growing archive holds more than 10,500 hand-drawn surface designs by Australian artists of the 20th century, many of them never seen publicly until now. Each work is carefully digitised and restored so the artist's original intent remains intact.
